translation of the motto. There was an alarm of fire yesterday eve about half-past 7 o'clock, caused by the out of a chimney at the Wesleyan Institute. The pre and book-and companies were promptly on the but very fortunately their services were not needed. A thrill of fear filled every heart when told that the Institute tire, for all knew that should a fire at that institution the firemen would e totally unable to do anything, as there is sufficient supply of water to furnish the sgine. Fortunately no damage was done festerday evening besides a thorough rightening of the pupils of the Institute. A whitiwing yesterday evening carried off the awning in front of McMahon & Mc-Quaide's store, and having bourne it across e street dropped it on the store of W. F. Kiebbs, breaking down his sign.

Letter from Cumberland.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] Snow fell here for four hours yesterday morning, whitening the tops of the houses, and making everything look like January. The following night we had a heavy frost, which destroyed the remaining small quanlity of fruit (if any) left from the severe frosts abandoned now of baving any peaches, cherries, strawberries, &c.

From the Great Valley. SECTION 57, VALLEY RAILEOAD, ROCKBRIDGE COUNTY, Val, April 28:

Editors Dispatch,-Since my last we have had "water, water everywhere," until every one, especially railroad men and farmers, is thoroughly disgusted. Hardly an average of ten working days this month en he railroad, and no farm work of any consequence done, is enough to make them so; but to-day is bright and beautiful, and railroad life springs forward with renewed energy to make up for lost time. Hands come in freely to the work, and every preparation is being made to push the Valley railroad through to Salem from this time on with a vim never before shown in railroading in Virginia.

Captain Wise, of Buckingbam, and the negro Patterson, heretofore reported so severely injured by a blast, have recovered under the skilful treatment of Dr. R. H. Minson, physician on this line. If there is such a thing as restoring "lost sight" in these days, Wise's case is certainly one.

Fine specimens of coal, marble, slate, lithographic stone, iron, &c., are being turned up on this line through Rockbridge frequently and it would certainly pay the county to employ a competent geologist to make a re port of its mineral resources, which the lamented Commodore Maury said far surpassed those of any county in Virginia.

There is and has been much depression among these people on account of the scarcity of money, taxes, and the backwardness of all farming operations; but lands have increased greatly in value, and the large amounts daily spent by railroad contractors will soon tell favorably for the financial condition, to say nothing of the new life and energy infused by the railroad work and the incoming of new men and means. The county roads have been and are still being improved by contract; and above all, the pres ent gloomy state of affairs, those who look at the natural resources of this section, see much that is hopeful in the future, and have bravely gone to work to profit by one of bonds quiet and nominal. prosperity that will make the past seem only an ugly dream.

There are about one hundred Italians at work on the Valley railroad, most of whom worked on the famous Mt. Cenis tunuel, through the Alps. They are stone-masons, and have most all of that kind of work on the line. They are generally able-bodied, Carolina 6's unchanged. fine looking men-polite, quiet, but good and industrious workmen at lower wages than our people work for, and they are much liked by contractors and the people. They begin to talk a little English, and most of their "bosses" can "navigate" the language very well. They drink wine and lager, and don't like "commissary whiskey," and I have the first one to see drunk yet. They expect to locate permanently in Virginia, and will make good citizens.

The number of young and old "F. F. V.'s" from Tuckahoe and Cohee at work as bosses, dumpers, clerks, laborers, &c., on this work-many never raised to hard labor-is the best answer I have seen yet to

From the "railroad giants" who are building this road—Mason, McMahan, the Harmans, Meneffee, Shanahan, Green, and Harmans, Meneffee, Shanahan, Green, and others—men who built the Chesapeake and Ohio and other great works, and were acknowledged masters of their work by Huntington and others, down to the humblest negro laborer—Virginia can point with pride in answer to the slanders that have so long filled the northern papers upon the character of her people as workers, and upon the character of her people as workers are character of her people as workers are character of her people as w racter of her people as workers, and upon the system of society amid which they were raised and educated. But time and your space forbid further comment upon this interesting subject, though I may be tempted hereafter to give you a pen-picture of the "syndicate" and its members for the benefit of the rising generation and to show them how honor, wealth, and positions of usefulness surely crown the lives of those who learn young how to labor and grow strong.

A word about Richmond and Baltimore before I close, and again I say "a word to the wise is sufficient?" Rullrand contracted.

LOUISVILLE, May 1.—Flour quiet and unchanged. Corn quiet and unchanged. Provisions quiet and unchanged. Pork, $17. Bacon—Shoulders, 7%c.; clear rib, 9%c.; clear, 10c. Lard—Tierce, 10%c.; keg. 10%c.; keg. 10%c.; whiskey, 92c. the wise is sufficient," Railroad contractors and merchants here, and above, say they want to trade with Richmond, but can buy as cheap, if not cheaper, in Baltimore, and ship to Staunton and Goshen by the Valley railroad and Chesapeake and Obio cheaper and quicker than by canal or railroad from Richmond, and much more certainty. Baltimore, they say, gives time to meet payments for supplies by the estimates for work, and Richmond does not; and the Baltimore railroad lines give cheap freights and your lines do not. If these matters are not attended to by your business men how can you expect the Valley to help "to build up Richmond"?

In Lexington, Saturday, I picked up an item or so. Generally the old "Athens" is looking up.

Both the Virginia Military Institute and Washington and Lee University have fewer students than last session-a fact that shows how hard times are South. Colonel William Preston Johnson, Washington and Lee, it is currently reported. will soon resign and settle in Bardstown, Ky

The Rev. Dr. Pratt, of the Presbyterian Church, (he who swears "St. Patrick was a These who could see are loud in Blue Stocking"), has returned from the North, entirely recovered from a serious affliction of the brain, much to the delight of his friends and admirers. Governor John Letcher is attending court in Bath, leaving Colonel Bolivar Christian, Major J. B. Dorman, Hon. J. Randolph Tucker, and that learned "county court lawyer," James D. Davidson, Esq., in fine health, to do the honors, legal and otherwise, of the city. The Dispatch is the city paper in "The Athens;" but many regret that " Viator" no longer keeps it posted on Lexington matters. No serious damage reported from high water last week. "Parson" Lafferty still keeps up a lively war in his Gazette in favor of the Valley railroad extension, and a convention of Valley counties in Lexington on July 4th; and the Citizen backs up his positions in a moderate way. The question is not so much discussed now among the people, as they generally have faith that the next Legislature will grant the charter, and what is left of Old Virginia remain one and indivisable, now and forever more.

All hands were paid off on the railroad today, and everything is "jolly" accordingly. Laborers get $1.25 per day, and there is work for all who want it.

MURDER BY A FELON UNDER SENTENCE OF DEATH.-Hudson, N. Y., April 30.-Joe Waltz, the murderer, who is sentenced to be hanged at Catskill to-morrow, killed his keeper, Charles Ernst, in his cell at 3 o'clock this afternoon, by striking him on the head with a piece of iron, smashing in his skull. Let Mr. Yankee—not one of whose tribe (the regular "blue noses," I mean) ever did an honest, square day's work in his life, so long as he could "live by his wits"—come and try a hand with them railroading, and he will be taught a lesson similar to that this same Virginia stock, under Lee and Jackson, taught their much-boasted and energetic legions during the war, though in a different field.
